Rector's Letter

Friends,

Many years ago, I attended a lecture by a prominent Methodist minister in Chicago who said, "When I was growing up, we went to church on Palm Sunday and then on Easter Sunday, and didn't step foot in church on the six days in between." Truth be told, the same was true for me and my family when I was growing up. Of course, attending church on those two holy days of Palm Sunday and Easter is an excellent thing to do! But I want to encourage you to come to church in between those Sundays, especially if you've never done so before. Maundy Thursday (a service I first attended as a college student here in Providence) is a beautiful and moving worship service that commemorates the Last Supper and Jesus' washing of his disciples' feet and giving them (and us) the commandment to love one another. By the end of the service, we strip the altar and chancel of all its ornamentation, calling to mind the desolation felt by Jesus as he awaited his betrayal in the Garden of Gethsemane. For some, this service is the most moving of the church year.

On Good Friday, we continue Grace Church's tradition of a noon service with a guest preacher, who this year will be the chaplain at Woman & Infants Hospital, the Rev. Caroline Patterson. And the following evening at 7 p.m., we will begin the Easter Vigil and celebrate the first Eucharist of the Easter season following sundown on that night. This, too, is a favorite service of many who have experienced it, though hardly any of us grew up with it in our own churches. A bit like Maundy Thursday, it almost has to be experienced to be appreciated.

Holy week is an opportunity to move through the life, death,

Sunday Forum on Climate Change

On Sunday, April 19th, Prof. Yongsong Huang of the Department of Earth, Environmental, and Planetary Sciences at Brown University will come to Grace Church to describe the impacts of climate change and talk about what each person can do to make a difference. 2015 is a make or break year on this important issue. With a major international meeting in December, and the effects of climate change already happening worldwide, we all have a moral duty to act. On April 19th at 9 a.m. in the Chafee Room we'll learn more about climate change and ways to take action. The event has been organized in partnership with GreenFaith, an interfaith environmental organization, and Climate Voices, a non-profit dedicated to bringing scientists and citizens together to discuss climate science and the local impacts of climate change. For information on GreenFaith Day, visit: <http://www.greenfaith.org/success-stories/greenfaith-day-2015>. All are welcome!
