

Spotlight on Grace: Thoughts from the Rector

If you could step back in time to, say, 1960, you would likely not see a single person at Grace Church making the sign of the cross (also known as "crossing yourself") during worship. Until recently, making the sign of the cross was largely reserved to Orthodox, Roman Catholic, and Anglo-Catholic Episcopal churches (though the great reformer Martin Luther supported the practice!).

Like in many Episcopal churches in recent decades, though, Grace has seen more and more people perform this ancient liturgical practice of "crossing oneself." When people make the sign of the cross during worship at Grace, it usually occurs in several places: at the opening of the service; at the end of the Confession when absolution is pronounced; and at the end of the service, when the priest pronounces God's blessing on the people. You may also notice people using their thumb to trace three small crosses on their forehead, lips and heart at the beginning of the Gospel reading as a way of saying: "May the words of the Gospel be in my mind and on my lips and in my heart." The sign of the cross is really a "prayer in motion", seeking Christ's blessing upon us and God's forgiveness and mercy. It is also TOTALLY OPTIONAL.

For many Episcopalians who grew up in Protestant and low-church Episcopal parishes (where worship looks and feels more Protestant than Roman Catholic or Anglo-Catholic) the sign of the cross is not part of their spiritual practice, whereas it comes very naturally to those who grew up in the Roman Catholic Church or Anglo-Catholic Episcopal parishes. Whether or not you choose to cross yourself, you're still a good Episcopalian! - Jonathan+

Music at Grace

The Thursday Noon concert series continues next Thursday, March 17, with a performance by guest organist Peter Berton of St. John the Evangelist, Newport.

The March 13th Sunday 10am Music Notes: This week's anthems both share their text from Psalm 126, though that is where the similarities end! At the offertory, soprano Paige Revens sings C.V. Stanford's setting which comes from his grouping of "Bible Songs." Stanford embodied the romanticism of the late 19th/early 20th centuries. Set about 300 years earlier, Adrian Batten, also an English composer, set Psalm 126 for 4-part choir in a classic Tudor style. Today's selections are a wonderful example of hearing how a span of centuries can bring the same text to life in such varied ways.

The Grace Church Choristers is open to boys and girls in grades 2 through 12. The choir rehearses at least twice weekly, and sings twice per month at the Sunday Holy Eucharist at Grace. Please spread the word to families with youngsters who may have an interest in singing. Contact Director of Music Vince Edwards with questions.
