Spotlight: All Souls', All Saints', and the Difference

You've probably heard of All Saints' Day, and you know about Halloween, of course. But what about All Souls' Day, and All Hallows' Eve, and All Faithful Departed? What's the difference?

Well, November 1 is All Saints' Day, one of the principal feasts of the Episcopal Church, when the church remembers the saints, known and unknown. It is also one of the four holy days denoted as especially appropriate for baptisms. (The others are the First Sunday after Epiphany, the Easter Vigil, and Pentecost.) The origins of All Saints' Day aren't completely clear. A feast for all martyrs was observed as early as the fourth century on May 13. And Pope Gregory III dedicated a chapel in Rome to all saints on November 1, while Pope Gregory IV officially declared its general observance in 837.

In medieval England this feast was known as All Hallows (hallow was an old English term for saint), and the day before was All Hallows' Eve, or Halloween. It is believed that the traditions we associate with Halloween originate with Celtic harvest festivals, in particular the festival of Samhain, which celebrated the harvest and when the dead were said to return to their homes because the veil between the physical and spiritual worlds was thought to be thinnest at that time. Bonfires were lit to frighten away evil spirits. There is an Episcopal service for All Hallows' Eve that includes prayers and readings such as "The Witch of Endor," which it may surprise you to learn is a story from the Bible (1 Samuel 28: 3-25), not Tolkien.

November 2 is the commemoration of All Faithful Departed, sometimes called All Souls' Day. It is a day when faithful Christians who have died are remembered. While in the New Testament “saints” refers to the entire Christian community, it has come to mean people of “heroic sanctity” whose holy deeds are remembered by Christians. Beginning in the tenth century, the church began to remember all departed Christians on November 2. Many remember their loved ones who have died on this day. Together these three days are sometimes called Allhallowtide.

The Grace Church Organ Project

At their October meeting, the Vestry gave their blessing to The Grace Church Organ Project, a plan for restoration, renovation, and expansion of our pipe organ. We are currently seeking funding for the project, and welcome any input or ideas you may have about funding sources.

A brochure is available at the back of the church, and on the Music page of the website, that details the concepts of the project. Please feel free to speak to Vince Edwards, Organist & Director of Music, or Fr. Jonathan Huyck, the Rector, if you have questions or would like to learn more about this exciting project.

Photos for All Souls' and All Saints'

It is a tradition at Grace Church that photos of departed loved ones are placed on the High Altar for the Feast of All Saints. This year we are extending that tradition to include our All Souls' Day Eucharist. All are welcome to bring a photo in a frame to place on the High Altar for All Souls' Day (November 2nd) and/or All Saints' Day (November 7th).

Generations of Generosity

At the same time that we unite to lift-up and celebrate our collective stewardship of Grace Church for the coming year through annual pledges, we're extending our gaze forward to provide the most stable foundation possible for Grace Church to serve generations to come. In tandem with this year's stewardship campaign, we have revitalized The 1829 Society: an honorary society of faithful and committed supporters who have established a planned gift to fortify the long-term future of Grace Church. On this year's pledge card, you'll find a check box to indicate a planned gift and thus membership in the revived 1829 Society. Pledge cards are available in the pews, and brochures for the 1829 Society are on the table by the baptismal font at the back of the church. You can either mail a completed pledge card, place it in the offering basket on any Sunday, or bring it with you to place at the altar on Commitment Sunday (November 21). Thank you for considering a legacy gift to Grace Church...and for making a pledge to support Grace Church in 2022!
